

"A comprehensive simulator training solution for close quarter battle."

The Ultimate Multiple Threat, Close Quarter Battle Training Tool

The AIS PRISim Suite® multi-room training system can be installed inside a Close Quarter Battle (CQB) House to create a multiple-threat judgement training theatre for close quarters shooting and tactical training.

By placing individual screens in different rooms, trainees can practise tactical movement through the building as well as engaging multiple threats from different directions. Shot events on one screen can cause video branching on single or multiple screens in other rooms. The system can be customised to respond to physical events such as a door or window opening, or other trigger systems.

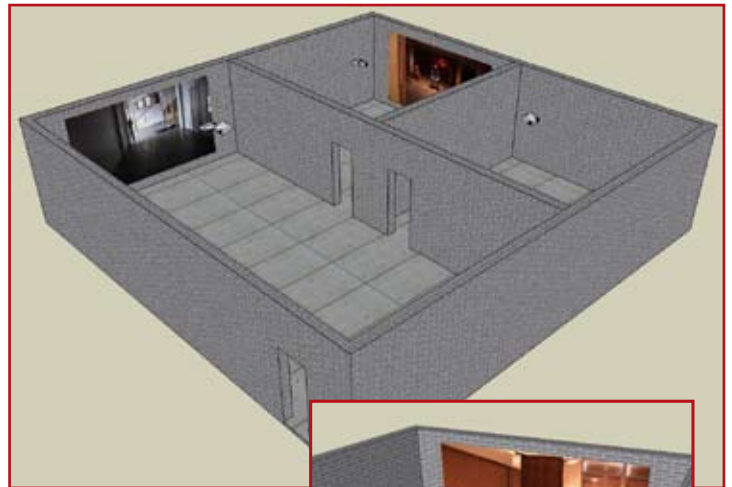

The multi-room training system can be laser or live fire, and can be combined with other PRISim Suite® systems such as sniper, dueling or multi-screen systems. This comprehensive tool trains for threats in multiple directions.

Training examples include:

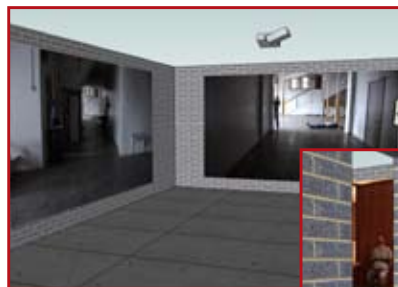

- Urban Operations
- Building clearing
- Cell extraction
- Hostage rescue
